

Project Torch... Delivering the Dream! Project Torch has been established with the guidance of the Overtime School of Wrestling staff and the committed efforts of an initial start up committee. Overtime, in conjunction with Project Torch, is devoted to the continued growth of amateur wrestling.

We hope you share in the excitement of this endeavor and will join us for the 3rd Annual Project Torch Dinner benefiting Project Torch.

Guest Speaker
Henry Cejudo

- U.S. Nationals champion (2006 and 2007)
- Pan American Games champion (2007)

THE MISSION

The Project Torch Foundation believes that small actions can amount to big results, especially if taken up on a grand scale.

Project Torch, a 501 (c) (3) non-profit organization, invests in some of the most promising athletes in the sport of wrestling. This strengthens the sport at the national level, and benefits American athletes in national and international competition.

We provide financial assistance, top-quality facilities, mentorship, and outstanding coaches to current national-caliber and world-class athletes. The same resources are offered to developing athletes and youth with financial need who demonstrate the potential to compete and succeed on the national and world stage.

Our programs focus on not only building athletic ability, but also aim to cultivate the athletes' personal character to ensure their success in other areas of life.
